M'LEAN HOLDS
ANNUAL TOURNEY

Citizens of Virginia Town
Celebrate Field Day With Orations and Sports.

Yesterday was "field day" at McLean, Va., and everybody in that vicinity, apparently, turned out to participate in the festivities.

There was music and oratory, games, refreshments of all kinds, and a tournament, participated in by more than fifteen hundred of old and young, tall and handsome, lean and fat and middle-sized citizens of the neighborhood.

The orators of the day were E. Hill-ton Jackson, J. Franklin Williams and Major Charles Hines.

Mr. Jackson told the assemblage how fortunate and happy they should feel that they were citizens of one of the most beautiful and fertile spots in the country, and dwelt at some length upon this feature. He referred to recent months, the history of whose lives made their birthplace, "Old Virginia," conspicuous throughout the world.

The tournament was run in two groups divided between the following knights: J. S. Carper, H. McFarley, R. L. Watkins, W. T. Kirby, W. W. Mackall, J. Davidson, J. F. Carper, J. H. Murnane, H. H. Carper, J. B. Mackall, M. McGarity, C. M. Mackall, V. Palmer and H. D. Hurst, A. D. Langley, J. H. Carper, J. F. Love, L. Seibel, J. Blandford, W. L. Herron, L. D. Love, T. Head, J. H. Mack, A. L. Adams, L. Love, S. Hanson and W. E. Duncan.

The celebration closed with a moon-light festival and dance.

FOURTEEN APPLY FOR SERVICE IN D. C. GUARD

Ninth Street Recruiting Station Sends Large Group to Camp Ordway for Physical Examination.

Officers of the Ninth street recruiting station for the District Guard had the busiest day in a long time yesterday. They had to record the pedigrees of 14 applicants for enlistment and go through the same routine method of questioning with each.

Each of the applicants was sent out to Camp Ordway to be physically examined. In the past two weeks, very few have been rejected by the examiners, say the recruiting officers, and so they think there is every likelihood that yesterday's fourteen registrations will be accepted.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

District of Columbia and Maryland—Partly cloudy and continued warm Sunday and probably Monday; light variable winds, mostly southerly. Virginia—Generally fair and continued warm Sunday and Monday, except showers in extreme southwest portion; light variable winds. No important changes in the pressure distribution has occurred in the last twenty-four hours, and there is no well-defined storm area within the field of observation.

The winds along the North Atlantic coast will be moderate southwest to west, with occasional thunder-showers; on the Middle Atlantic coast light southerly, with fair weather.

ROME ONE WEEK; GONE AGAIN.

Baltimore Girl Reported Missing
Second Time.

Baltimore, Aug. 4.—The police have again been asked to search for Miss Agnes Buckingham, 16 years old, daughter of Michael G. Buckingham, who, after being absent from her home nearly a month, returned and then left again after a stay of just one week.

On June 30 the young woman left home to go to work. When she did not return, the matter was reported to Capt. Kallfleisch. Three weeks later Miss Buckingham reached her home and announced that she was married to Private Joseph Dee, of the Fifth Regiment, and that she had been staying with her husband's parents at Laurel.

NIGHT IN GIRL'S
LIFE A MYSTERY

Detectives Seek Missing Link
In Olney's "Air Bubble"
Murder Case.

Special to The Washington Herald.
Olney, Ill., Aug. 5.—One night in the life of Elizabeth Ratcliffe, "air-bubble" nurse here, just one week before her death on a lonely country road near here, has not been accounted for.

According to Mrs. Bert Fancher, sister of the tragedy victim, Elizabeth spent at the evening of that night in the company of Roy Hintersher, held in the county jail here awaiting action of the grand jury on a charge of murder.

Mrs. Fancher declares Hintersher took the girl out early in the evening. Later she returned, saying it was "all off" with Hintersher and that she would spend the evening with a chum, Carrie Cole. Miss Cole declares she saw nothing of Elizabeth on that night. Elizabeth returned home, Mrs. Fancher says, a 5 o'clock next morning, dusty and evidently not having slept.

The information given caused the authorities to place considerable more credence in the rumor from Charleston, Ill., that the couple visited there several days before the tragedy. The report declared Hintersher attempted to hire a physician to perform an operation upon the girl.

Realizing that verification of the rumor would go a long way toward showing Hintersher contemplated an operation, such as is alleged to have caused the girl's death, State's Attorney Morris is leaving no stone unturned to run it down.

CARRANZA AGREEMENT
TEMPORARILY HALTED

Uncertainty as to Translation of Word
Blocks Action to Appoint Commission.

The United States will not accept the latest Carranza and appoint American commissioners to sit with the Mexican members named by Gen. Carranza in the commission to adjust the differences between the two countries, until all details as to the exact meaning of Gen. Carranza's communication, delivered to State Department Friday, have been cleared up.

Gen. Carranza stated that he considered it of the greatest importance that no action would be taken until the exact meaning of the Spanish word "Preferentialment," translated "Preferably" by the Mexican embassy, has been ascertained. Ambassador Designate Eliseo Arredondo will visit the State Department Monday to confer with Acting Secretary of State Frank L. Polk regarding the creation of the commission, and at that interview Mr. Polk will seek to learn whether there is any doubt as to the meaning of the word.

DIES ACCUSED OF MURDER.

Delaware Physician Succumbs to Operation in Jail.

Georgetown, Del., Aug. 5.—Following an operation for appendicitis, Dr. W. A. Parker, who was confined in the Sussex County jail awaiting trial for the murder of Ebe T. Lynch, postmaster at Lewes, died at midnight in the grand jury room of the court house, where he had been taken under guard for the operation. His wife was present.

The coroner's jury today brought in a verdict that death came from peritonitis, caused by appendicitis.

Giant Spider Wins Bout with Border Guardsmen.

Pharr, Tex., Aug. 5.—The monotony of camp life was broken for the Twenty-third Regiment, New York National Guard, when Capt. Jerome Langer, of Company I, had a conflict with a tarantula on Monday. The giant tarantula dropped on the officer's face and stung him over the eye.

The eye began to swell until there was a great lump over it, but, aside from this, no harm was done Langer.

AMERICAN FOOD SPURNED.

German Count Would Use Crops of Occupied Territory.

Amsterdam, Aug. 5.—Count von Reventlow, in the Berlin Tageszeitung, challenges the German government to use the crops grown in territory occupied by German soldiers to feed the German population, thus disposing of all food difficulties. In discussing the subject the writer says:

"This would enable us to kick out American food commissions in the west. American food controllers are intolerable for Germany."

Waiter Finds $5,000 Brooch.

NO CRUELTY IN STEER THROWING

Sheepshead Speedway Stampede Shows Cowboys Are Humane With Steers.

Special to The Washington Herald.
New York, Aug. 5.—East and West have met in a clash of convictions, and the West has won out.

They met at Sheepshead Speedway yesterday afternoon in "The Stampede" to decide the question: "Is it cruelty to animals to throw steers?" the contest being for world's championships in various branches of horsemanship.

East was represented by four officials of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, in light suits and panamas; West by cowboys in broad-brimmed felt hats, high boots, with spurs that clinked as they walked, and silk shirts of brilliant cerise, purple and emerald green, with elaborate sleeve ribbons of bright yellow or pink.

To prove to the officials that their fears of cruelty were unfounded a special performance of roping and throwing was arranged. From the herd a nice, gentle, unsuspecting steer was selected and urged to a brisk run between two horsemen.

When both horses and steer were in full gallop, Bill Pickett, whose reputation is world-wide, slipped from his saddle to the animal's neck, grabbed his horns and hung on.

East gasped and held its breath. It looked for a minute to the uninitiated as if the case were one of cruelty to man, while West merely amused. Then, with a twist of his hand, Pickett threw the steer upon his side, and held him down quietly, while movie cameras clicked.

Scouts From Broadway Seek Girls in Stores as Footlight
Favorites.

Special to The Washington Herald.

Atlantic City, Aug. 5.—Scouts have been busy here during the last week, visiting the "nickel-and-dime" stores, salt water taffy factories and the restaurants where females attend to the wants of customers. They are in search of young girls with a possible fancy for stage life, there being a dearth of available material to supply the demands for "merry-merry" chorus girls for the coming season.

Chorus girls are scarcer than munition workers, and if the demand is not filled from cities outside of New York and Philadelphia the girls who have been doing duty in musical comedies for years will be able to command any salary they may ask for next season.

NAVY YARD WORKERS
ENTERTAIN "KIDDIES"

Music and Games Enjoyed by Children in Weekly Frolic at Camp Good Will.

A committee of forty, representing the employees of the Navy Yard, their families and friends, made things bright for the little colony at Camp Good Will yesterday, and from early in the afternoon until the bugle sounded assembly, there was something doing every minute.

The Navy Yard men have made it their business to see that the "kiddies" are properly entertained every Saturday afternoon, and they outdid themselves yesterday.

From the point of view of an onlooker it was hard to tell whether the entertainers or the entertained were the selves more. Grown folks and children seemed equally eager to join in the games, and both were in high spirits throughout the day.

A band of Navy Yard employees furnished music.

The town of Waterboro, Me., at its annual town meeting, voted the sum of $50 toward the erection and maintenance of an outlook station on Ossipee Mountains, with the understanding that other towns or parties raise a sufficient amount to make a total of $200.

Ever Hear a
Grafonola Out
On the Water?

UP along the Palisades of the Potomac the writer heard not one, but dozens. And the effect was novel and fascinating. A "Grafonola" placed in the bow of motorboat, rowboat, or canoe, and played as the "shades of night are falling" furnishes a sensation long to be remembered.

As a matter of fact, the "Grafonola" taken on your summer vacation will add a hundredfold to the pleasures in store for you.

It can be used on the porch to furnish gems of melody, dance music, monologues, vaudeville "stunts," band music for dancing—for a hundred and one purposes that would be out of your reach had you to have human performers.

CHARGE GIRL FORGED
CHECK FOR RAIMENT

Police Accuse Prisoner of Signing
Landlady's Name to Checks.
Held in $1,000 Bail.

Special to The Washington Herald.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Aug. 5.—A desire to have fine clothes caused Eva Adams, 28 years old, of 2838 Fulton street, to forge her landlady's name to a check and draw $25 from a savings bank, according to a confession that the police allege the girl made.

She was arrested on a charge of forgery by Detective Dougherty. This morning Magistrate Geismar held her in $1,000 bail in the New Jersey

Avenue Police Court for further examination Monday.

Detective Dougherty says the girl signed a written confession, in which she acknowledged getting the money. According to the confession she was employed as a shirtwaist worker. She boarded with Mrs. Theresa Waldinger at 2838 Fulton street. Mrs. Waldinger had money in the East New York Savings Bank, at Atlantic and Pennsylvania avenues, and the young woman is charged with signing Mrs. Waldinger's name to a check and drawing out $25.

"I wanted to get some good-looking clothes like other girls wore, and I took the money," the detective declares the girl told him. "I am willing to pay the penalty."
